Why is Infinity Publishing making this special offer??? Since our start of business in 1997, we have earned an excellent reputation for being author-friendly and this is our way of encouraging aspiring authors to publish his or her books. Throughout the year we donate bundles of books to library fund-raising benefit programs. We also give books and Infinity's publishing package to be awarded as door prizes at various writer conferences. We publish and distribute anthologies of a collection of work from established writing groups. This is our way of reaching out in support of writers unable to attend writer conferences or aren't members of an organized group.
